A Brighter, More Hopeful Outlook

So much has been heard during the past two or three years about hard times in Canada, with reports of unemployment, emigration to the United States, etc., etc., that it is a welcome change to now read from week to week of steadily improving conditions and to note the more hopeful tone prevailing. It is undeniably true that during recent years times have been exceedingly trying and difficult for many people, and that heavy responsibilities have been carried by the public and especially during the prevailing period of depression, when after all, the number who engaged in downright blue rain talk was small, albeit at times rather noisy.

The tide has changed and is growing stronger, with the result that thousands who emigrated to the United States are now coming back with the immigration of new people is increasing. Unemployment has lessened and the number of those seeking work has decreased, and the general public shows steady improvement.

Having heard so much that was discouraging and indicative of despondency in past months, let us record a few facts revealing the present situation with all its significance for continued progress.

The number of people in Canada during the first three months of this year was 753, compared with 1,000,000 in the same quarter of 1923, and liabilities were more than one million dollars less.

Loadings of freight cars on Canada's railways during the first five months of the year were nearly 100,000 greater than during the same months a year ago, and railway earnings exceed those of a year ago by over three million dollars.

While building permits in the larger Eastern cities, notably Montreal and Toronto, show decreases, the reverse is true in the West. Western permits are more than $2,000,000 greater than at this same period a year ago.

The production of wheat in 1923 was 253,000,000 bushels, and in 1922, was 245,000,000 bushels.

According to data given out at Winnipeg, the net value to farmers of last year's wheat crop in the West alone, between September 1 and April 20, was $100,000,000, greater than the value of the previous crop.

On the other hand, crop conditions in the United States have failed for twelve years past, and wheat prices are on an upward trend. It is commonly predicted that the United States will be obliged to import larger quantities of Canadian wheat this year.

Despite the outcry made by some manufacturers over the recent wheat change, the industry is likewise improving. The Ford Motor Company of Canada is manufacturing 45,000 more cars this year than in any previous year. The Canadian General Electric Co. is creating a $35,000,000 addition to its plant at Peterborough. Every shipbuilding firm is now adding to their staffs.

The Canadian General Electric Co. is creating a $35,000,000 addition to its plant at Peterborough. Every shipbuilding firm is now adding to their staffs.

The inventor of the statement was recently made to an official of a big Eastern manufacturing concern when he said that in any section of Canada where the natural resources of the country are being developed, business is exceptionally good. This bears out the contention made over and over again in this column, that what the manufacturers of Canada require is not more work, but more opportunity to do what they are doing in developing for us the great wealth of natural resources in Canada. A little hard work and a little ingenuity will go a long way.

Many instances could be cited of improvements recorded in other departments of business, such, for example, as one to two distributing firms whose volume of business is 20 per cent. greater than a year ago; or another firm engaged in the manufacture of shoes whose business is up 50 per cent.; or a firm producing grape juice whose 1923 sales were 40 per cent. larger than in 1922 and whose business this year is increasing over that of last year.

There is no ground for pessimism in Canada, either east or west. In this Dominion we do not, as a rule, jump from profound depression into feverishly active business, as do the United States. Business in this country takes a slow, more gradual and certain, in most cases. The facts above recorded show that the "bright spots" are growing larger and increasing in number. The business recovery seems assured, and if the people of Canada will retain a confident attitude and govern themselves accordingly, permanently better times are ahead.

Still Waiting

Chairman Elliott, of the Northern Pacific roads:

"My grandpa notes the world's worn cogs, and says we're going to the dogs. His grandpa, but not mine, do the same. The dogs, who were going to the dogs, are dogs that are going to the dogs. The dogs that are going to the dogs, the dogs in my house skin togs, sold things were going to the dogs. The dogs in my house skin togs, sold things were going to the dogs. But this is what I wish to state: 'The dogs have an awful wait.'

Electric Light For Beds

Wonderful electric heating wires were recently described at a meeting of the Gloucester Chamber of Agriculture.

The beds are provided with electric light and electric heating wires. The wires are made of tungsten, which is welcome to welcome, as strong broads of heat are ready to go out to the dogs.

Northland Trader Made Navigation Record

Steamer Arrived at Fort Resolution on June Eighth

"This is the first vessel that the north has ever known so far as navigation in the Slave River is concerned," writes A. L. Sawle, secretary-treasurer of the Northern Trading Co. to the head of the firm in Edmonton. Mr. Sawle is on his annual visit to the posts of the company strung all along the north flowing waters, and at the time the letter was mailed was at Fort Smith, making preparations for the trip to the Arctic.

He says that the trees and gardens are two weeks earlier than usual, and the steamer Northern Trader, which arrived in time to arrive at Fort Resolution on June 8. The vessel took down freight and passengers for the Great Slave Lake post, returning again to Fort Smith to take on her cargo and passengers for the Arctic posts. The vessel was to leave Fort Smith outward bound on June 20, and was to be preceded several days by the company's auxiliary schooner, which it is expected will arrive at the same time, and arrive at the delta of the Mackenzie River.

The motor vessel Pioneer will make a voyage to Fort Norman with cargo on the return of the Northland Trader to Fort Smith, at the end of her first Arctic voyage.

NOSE COLDS

QUICKLY STOPPED

A neglected cold is the open gateway to cold.

To quickly stop a cold, the best way is to let the patient sleep in a warm bed.

The man who says that business is rotten merely because that expression is the briefest one with which to answer the question, is about as responsible for his failure as is the man who makes the same statement in order to cover up his personal failure to get out and get business, that can be had by those who enterprisingly go after it.

There is lots of business doing in spite of the parlour talk of persons who do not reflect upon what they say.

What Of Canada's Future

What Area of the Dominion Now
Estimated at Over 22,672,000
Acres

Attention has been called to the progress which this country has made since the time of the present or the present century, and what may be in prospect for this young and aggressive country in the years to come.

There is no formula, however, for judging the course of national development. The most cautious forecast may be in error, and the most optimistic may fall far short of actual accomplishment. Sixty years ago President Lincoln pointed out, in his second annual message to Congress, that the population of the United States in 1820 would exceed 18,000,000. If the rate of increase continued to be as great as it had been between 1790 and 1860, "The United States did record amazing progress but by 1890 the population would be some 30,000,000, to reach the number mentioned in Lincoln's message."

Again, achievement may just as strikingly outstrip anticipation. In 1893 the returns showed a population of 60,000,000, defining a very impressive achievement on "The Wheat Frontiers" as his presidential address before the British Association for the Advancement of Science. Reviewing the prospective areas of expansion, he said: "The slight draw increased supplies of wheat, the speaker stated that "the most trustworthy estimates give Canada a wheat area of not more than 6,000,000 acres in the next twelve years, involving a population of 12,000,000 in twenty-five years."

The passing of twenty-five years has shown this estimate to be too conservative. Canada's wheat area reached the estimated maximum in 1909, and in 1913, in addition to an increase of 100,000,000 acres, in 1913, the speaker stated that "the most trustworthy estimates give Canada a wheat area of not more than 6,000,000 acres in the next twelve years, involving a population of 12,000,000 in twenty-five years."

But, though the rate and course of national growth hath prophecy, there can be no doubt that Canada has yet realized a small measure of her potential strength. Her natural resources, her skillful resources of the field, the forest, mine and waterway and the sea; with extensive systems of rail and water transportation, command a large area of the world. On the other hand, she has a more graphical situation than any nation with the exception of the markets of Western Europe and the Orient, a friendly nation of more than one hundred nations alike in language and customs as neighbors, the south, with similar institutions of government, and the north, with her well-organized political associations, the Dominion faces a career in which the period of economic youth and growth has still a long and promising course to run.

World Exhibitions

Do Not Always Prove To Be A Financial Success

Such exhibitions as the one now in progress at Wembley entail an enormous expenditure to put over properly, and when the time comes to get out of debt, it is always problematical. London's first big exhibition, that of 1851, was a great financial success. Over six million people visited the Crystal Palace and the surplus, after paying off all debts, was £1,000,000.

The next one, held in 1852, was not so successful.

Shortly after it's opening the Prince Consort died, and when the American Civil War broke out its receipts were so impaired that although they were £2,000,000, there was a final deficit of £50,000.

The Paris Exhibition of 1867 showed a profit of £40,000. In Vienna, in 1873, a loss of nearly two million dollars was sustained.

There was a loss of about $1,500,000, while the Paris International Exposition, although it attracted six million visitors, showed a deficit of $2,500,000.

Then last changed. A series of exhibitions, then held at London, were all successful, while the Chicago World's Fair and the Great Exhibition at St. Louis both showed big profits. In 1893 London's White City proved a fairly profitable undertaking, in spite of a wage bill of $1,000,000.

Artificial Always Inferior

Man can't cheat nature, but he nevertheless gives up trying. Flowers and vegetables are being experiments "grown" by X-rayed seeds and using electric lights as a substitute sun-shine.

Successful is the claim. But something will be lost—in fragrances of flowers, in the taste and quality of the vegetables. The artificial is always inferior to the natural way. So much for agricultural vaudeville.

The largest output of quicksilver on record was that of 1877.

India Honors Her Professional Beggars

Plaques for Aims Are Divided into Three Groups

In India begging is a recognized profession. Not merely not shamed, but honored, and crowds of its followers, old and young, are called "holy" beggars. Many of the types are common in Europe; the man, for example, who comes to obtrude a loss for which he never intended to pay him back, and the man who lends a "privilege and an honor, who shows his respect for you by accepting your loan; or the man with an adequate salary, who wishes of his large and hairy body, while his blouse and trousers are tattered, and crumpled in France, and Germany, manufactured the first watches.

Francisco I. of France was probably one of the first possessors of a watch; it was a massive affair, and perhaps some of the first to be given His Majesty, but it was regarded as a marvel of mechanism in those days.

The watch with the luminous dial, from which the time may be told in the dark, was invented in 1800. The first watch with a repeating device was the time-piece invented by a celebrated member of the French Academy, M. de Villayer. He had constructed a clock which, face upward, was set to the hour of the watch. In the place of the figures marking the hours there were small caps, which, when dialed, were filled with twelve different kinds of metal, the color of which told the hour. The repeater, a man who could repeat the time, got into vogue with direct results to M. de Villayer's chronological reckoning.

They comprise the stick and main; many wanting toes and fingers, pleasanly incapable of grasping the coins thrown to them.

2. The Holy Beggars

These for the most part are poor and wretched, many of them naked save for a loincloth, with their bodies smeared with ash and saffron and their hair uncut, matted and discolored. They wear skins, having round their necks and in every hand a bell, the ringing of which constitutes their sole apparel for charity, and in the other hand a bell in which all contributions are deposited.

3. The Tamasha Beggars.

Do it because that like it. It is good fun and a jolly life. Like the "holy" beggars, they wander from a village to a city, and assume a vagabond's dress. They are the most part on their fanatic's get-up to win their sympathy and in concealing their fancy dress nothing can amuse.

The Eighteen Greatest Men

Following List Was Selected By Faculty of Washington University

Washington Times-Union: Who are the greatest men in the history of the world? The largest measure of learning and culture to the world? You can probably name two or three, but the list of the eighteen greatest men in the history of the world, as the experts of the English universities have agreed, is as follows:

1. The Tamasha Beggars.

Do it because that like it. It is good fun and a jolly life. Like the "holy" beggars, they wander from a village to a city, and assume a vagabond's dress. They are the most part on their fanatic's get-up to win their sympathy and in concealing their fancy dress nothing can amuse.

Telling Time By Spices

Catered Member of French Academy Had Novel Way of Telling Hour in Dark

Although it is difficult to say exactly when the first watch was made it is believed that the pocket chronometer was soon celebrating its fourth century.

Four hundred years ago someone invented the spiral spring which made possible the pocket watch, and in France, and Germany, manufactured the first watches.

Francisco I. of France was probably one of the first possessors of a watch;

it was a massive affair, and perhaps some of the first to be given His Majesty, but it was regarded as a marvel of mechanism in those days.

The watch with the luminous dial, from which the time may be told in the dark, was invented in 1800. The first watch with a repeating device was the time-piece invented by a celebrated member of the French Academy, M. de Villayer. He had constructed a clock which, face upward, was set to the hour of the watch.

In the place of the figures marking the hours there were small caps, which, when dialed, were filled with twelve different kinds of metal,

the color of which told the hour.

The repeater, a man who could repeat the time, got into vogue with direct results to M. de Villayer's chronological reckoning.

Among the most notable achievements of the English experts are their agreement toward the end of the twentieth century of the repeater watch.

French and German manufacturers tried in vain to obtain the secret of the repeater watch, and in 1800 a Swiss sent a repeating watch as a gift to Legis XIV. of France, but the English watchmakers took the precaution to enclose the mechanism in a solid case so tightly as possibly could be opened without breaking the watch.

King Louis, however, sent the watch to a 15-year-old watchmaker named Caron, who had the reputation of being the best watchmaker in Paris.

Caron eventually took the British pleas to pieces and gave a valuable trade secret to the French watchmakers.

The watch was a success, and the success of the first watch made the name of Caron famous, and as the experts of the English watchmakers made his fortune.

Income Taxes Will Be Published On Post Office Bulletin

Under the new tax bill just signed by President Wilson, the amount of the tax, the name of car tax payer, and the amount of income tax he pays must necessarily be published on the bulletin board of the post office where he lives so that under this regulation every car tax payer will know exactly what the income and income tax of his neighbor may be.

Exactly what is to be paid by this is not clear, but instead as the British car in Congress seem to be in control this is not much use in hoping to get to the reason or the logic of the action taken.

Just what the man who runs his car may pay, every man's salary will be published on the bulletin board of the post office where he lives so that under this regulation every car tax payer will know exactly what the income and income tax of his neighbor may be.

Britain's Sea Power

Admiral Stresses Need of Maintaining Strength of Empire's Fleet

A warning to Canadians not to forget the value of sea power was voiced by Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick M. G. of His Majesty's special service squadron, during an address at a banquet, given in his honor at Victoria.

The people were sick of spending more and more in the cause of their taxation and debt, and in thinking of these things often forgot the great truth about sea power which applied to the British Empire. "It is not the man who has the most ships in the world," said the admiral, "but the man who has the best ships."

"It would be impudent on my part to attempt to influence this Dominion," said Sir Frederick. "But I feel justified in asking that you, who think she is safe, if her overseas trade is safe, and will be safe in war time?"

An Attraction At Wembley

Visitors Can See Many Articles Made From Milk

One of the attractions at Wembley is a dairy maid who shows visitors how to transform milk into various cheeses, unbreakable butters, butter cookies, biscuits, and a score of other articles which few people suspect could come from a cow.

The milk has first to go through a process in which the cream is extracted and dried, and then made into a product of milk. Some remarkable little machines which effect this magic transformation of milk are shown, and visitors are able to see a cow milked, and if they like, if they desire, handle the buttons that a short time before were warm milk.

Boys' and Girls' Swim Clubs

C.P.R. to Donate Championship Cup, Medals and a Free Trip to Toronto

The Provincial and Territorial Governments have cooperatively organized Boys' and Girls' Swim Clubs throughout the three prairie provinces to stimulate interest in raising marketing hopes and teaching the boys and girls how to swim.

The Canadian Pacific Railway announces that to aid in this work it will give a championship cup to each of the three club winners, three cups in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and these trophies will be for annual competition. The individual members of the winning teams, however, will be given medals as tokens of appreciation.

The trophies and the medals will be given irrespective of whether the winning teams live in C.P.R. lines or not, but winning teams that are residents of C.P.R. lines will have the additional treat of a trip to the Great White Show at Toronto, 1924, at the company's expense.

If any club should win one of the trophies, the club will be invited to have the permanent property of the club. Each team shall consist of two boys, or a brother and sister, or two girls, between the ages of 10 and 18, by September 1, 1924.

All the boys and girls who are covering the swim clubs as organized by the extension service in each province, must be observed, and all teams competing in the competition at a central point or points as decided by the committee in charge in each province and those competitions will be held at or near the time the calendar of boys rated by the clubs are marked on the calendar.

The following is the score on which clubs will be tested. Thirty points for general proficiency of the whole club in swimming; 20 points for the club's high jumping; 10 points for the quality of the two boys raised by members of the club; and 20 points for a 20-minute demonstration in swimming.

Sunlight and Health

Statistics Show That Too Much Sunlight Is Conductive to High Blood Pressure

The prevalent idea that we cannot have too much sunshine for health is challenged by W. H. Dines, who points out in Nature that many well-known statistical facts are opposite to this idea. In European countries that death rate is highest in the south and lowest in the north, and the British Isles and the Scandinavian countries are especially favorable to this idea. In Europe, sunburn is nearly the same both hot and cold, the intensity is far greater in the south. English figures for 1881 to 1912 being at hand, compared with figures for 1877 to 1912, the gasometer, sunburn death-rate of the two different years, and this showed that the four most sunless summers (1883, 1891, 1901, 1912) all had an exceptionally low death rate, while sunburn was greatest in 1877, 1899 and 1913 and 1914 had the highest sunburn death rate. It is contended that the sunburn death rate is not dependent on the amount of sunlight, but on the amount of heat that is received, and that the amount of heat is general.

It is thought to be hardly credible that sunlight alone should be good for health, and the explanation is suggested that it is the heat, with which sunshine is usually associated, that is harmful.

W. J. GOOD, Publisher

There were two Browns in the village, both fishermen. One lost his wife and the other lost his boat about the same time.

The vicar's wife called, as she supposed, on the widower, but really upon the Brown whose boat had gone down.

"I'm sorry to hear of your great loss," she said.

"Oh, it ain't much matter," was the reply. "She wasn't up to much."

"Indeed" said the surprised lady.

"Yes," continued Brown, "she was a rickety old thing. I offered her to my mate but he wouldn't have her. I've had my eye on another for a long time."

And then the outraged woman fled—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Communication

To the Editor of THE JOURNAL: Sir—In reference to the paragraph in THE MIRROR JOURNAL, of June 25th, regarding the uncleanliness of the streets, I have no knowledge of "unpleasant" odors, or of the parties circulating the petitions referred to, or of the paragraph inserted apparently in my favor, on June 19th. The odors I do not make a practice of signing or interesting myself in petitions.
